“ I went to school with Marks daughters, TJ was my best friend. She was there for me when my mom passed. Then we ended up going to church together and that's when I met her parents. Great people! I ended up going to their house on the weekends and doing a lot of church activities with them. My favorite was spending time with them at their house and enjoying dinner together in the living room. Marc was always SO nice to me. I looked forward to going there and being in that environment. Their house was my home away from “home” they made me feel loved and cared for. They gave me something I didn't get to feel at home and for that I am thankful. I'm going to miss you Marc.
